In the following resource guide, learn about the financial assistance options for senior care and senior living in your state, what benefits the different programs offer, who is eligible, and how to apply.

Financial Assistance for Senior Living & Senior Care

The likelihood of needing long-term care services increases to almost 70% after an adult reaches 65 years of age. The level and frequency of care can differ greatly, and women typically require care for 1.5 years longer than men, who need an average of 2.2 years of long-term care in their later years. Long-term care comes at a cost, which is often beyond the means of those who need it. Fortunately, financial help is available for seniors without sufficient income and assets to cover this expense.

Medicaid

As of December 2021, Medicaid covers some or all the health care costs for 7.3 million New Yorkers with low incomes. There are two ways older residents can benefit from Medicaid; directly with a care provider using their Medicaid card or through a managed care plan. The program can pay for nursing home care and equivalent services delivered in the senior's own home.

How to Apply

You can call the Medicaid Helpline at (800) 541-2831 to speak to an advisor if you need more information but the primary method of applying for Medicaid in New York is by booking an appointment at your local Department of Social Services office.

Medicaid is a program designed to ensure that seniors on low incomes get access to affordable health care. It can cover a wide range of services, including nursing home care, emergencies, home care, doctor visits and lab tests.

How to Apply

The most common way of applying for Medicaid in New York is to arrange an appointment with a staff member at the nearest Department of Social Services office. Alternatively, you can contact the Medicaid Helpline at (800) 541-2831 for further advice.

Eligibility

You may apply for Medicaid in New York State if your age and health issues are within the program's guidelines. Your income must also be within the appropriate percentage of the federal poverty guidelines for the type of Medicaid program you require.

- Aged 65+
- Disabled
- Assessed as in need of nursing home levels of care
- Have income and assets at or below the program's limits

You will need to provide financial statements for the 60 months prior to your application. The Department of Health will review this information to check if you've gifted or undersold assets in anticipation of a future Medicaid claim. Income and asset levels also vary if one person from a two-person household applies. In this instance, the institutionalized spouse retains $50 of income per month and can have assets of up to $16,800. The other household member, known as the community spouse, can have a monthly income of $3,435 and assets not exceeding $137,400.

Medicare

Original Medicare consists of Part A, which covers services provided on an inpatient basis, and Part B, which covers outpatient services. For example, Part A covers nursing care provided during a hospital stay, while Part B covers things like doctor visits and durable medical equipment.

How to Apply

To apply for Medicare online, visit the Social Security Administration website and fill out the form. You can also apply by telephone or in person. Call (800) 772-1213 to speak with a representative or use the online locator to find a Social Security office near you.

Eligibility

To receive Medicare benefits, you must be at least 65 years old or have a qualifying disability or end-stage renal disease. Everyone pays a premium for Part B, but you may qualify for premium-free Part A coverage if you or your spouse worked and paid Medicare taxes for at least 10 years.

Medicare Advantage

Original Medicare is managed by the federal government, but Medicare Advantage Plans are sold by private insurance companies. Each plan must offer at least the same amount of coverage as Original Medicare, but many insurers offer extra benefits to make their plans more attractive to consumers.

Use the Find a Medicare Plan tool on Medicare.gov to compare Medicare Advantage Plans in your state. When you're ready to enroll, call (800) 633-4227 or contact the plan provider directly.

Eligibility

Medicare Part D

Original Medicare doesn't cover most prescription drugs, so you may want to enroll in Medicare Part D, a supplemental plan that pays for a wide range of medications. Each plan has a formulary that explains how much coverage is provided for each type of drug. Most Medicare Advantage Plans include prescription drug coverage, and you can't enroll in Medicare Part D if you have a Medicare Advantage Plan that pays for prescription medications.

How to Apply

Use the Find a Medicare Plan tool on Medicare.gov to find a plan that meets your needs. When you're ready to enroll, contact the plan directly for instructions on applying for coverage.

Eligibility

To qualify for Medicare Part D, you must be enrolled in Medicare Part A and Medicare Part B (Original Medicare) or one of the few Medicare Advantage Plans that doesn't cover prescription drugs.
